The Tampa Bay Healthcare Collaborative (TBHC) is working towards significant systems-level change through the “Achieving Oral Health Equity in Tampa Bay (AOHE) Initiative”. AOHE is part of the Oral Health (OH) 2020 Network – a national effort to improve the oral health of all.

Community-driven work plan priorities included:
- Community Collaborations
- Educations and Messaging
- Advocacy
- Emerging Needs in Low Access/Rural Areas

94% of survey respondents agree TBHC has provided them with useful tools and resources to promote and advance the health & wellness of vulnerable populations

TBHC launched the Cultural and Linguistic Competency Initiative bringing together five organizations, each with a diverse organizational team of staff, board members, volunteers, clients, and other key stakeholders to increase their level of cultural and linguistic competency. Through this initiative, organizations collected data, and developed and implemented an action plan to provide more effective care to racially, ethnically, culturally, and linguistically diverse groups and reduce health disparities based on such factors.

Participating organizations included:
- Bon Secours Health System St. Petersburg
- Empath Health
- Florida Department of Health in Pinellas County
- St. Petersburg Free Clinic
- Vincent House

97% of survey respondents agree through TBHC they have an increased understanding of health equity and culturally competent and linguistically appropriate care
Our Meetings & Events

Each quarter, TBHC hosts in-person meetings to provide information about current issues, share resources, and offer networking opportunities. In total, nearly 200 individuals attended at least one quarterly meeting.

Topics discussed during the Quarterly Meetings included:

- February – Exploring the Changing Political Landscape
- May – Economic Impact of Florida Nonprofits
- August – Let’s Get REaL: A Strategy to Addressing Health Disparities
- November – Helping those that Help: Being Prepared & Recovery Ready

TBHC staff also provided opportunities to build community capacity and connect residents with local resources through a variety of events:

Community Health Awareness Event - Working towards Health Equity
Provided information, resources and access to health screenings and testings. Additionally, there was a facilitated screening and community dialogue to increase community awareness about health equity and mobilize for action.

Unnatural Causes: Is Inequality Making Us Sick? Train-the-Trainer Workshop
A half day session designed to help attendees learn more about the DVD series and available resources. Participants watched segments of the documentary, received tips for hosting screenings and facilitating community discussions, and reviewed skill-building activities.

Community Health Coalition of St. Petersburg (CHC)
An alliance of residents and organizers working to highlight local health issues and concerns through outreach and education. CHC hosts and facilitates informational events working together with community members, organizations and providers.
TBHC staff participate and attend social sector (non-profit) events and activities to stay connected to the needs and issues of community residents. This includes involvement with local community health needs assessment (CHNA) processes, engaging in strategic planning and community meetings.

SPIN

The 3rd Annual 'Strategic Partnerships and Interagency Networking (SPIN) Event' uses a speed-dating format with professionals from local health and human service organizations, government, academia and businesses to give you the opportunity to share information about your organization, explore potential partnerships, obtain resources for those you serve and much more.
